a-town groove

This year we are taking a new spin on the old yearbook idea. It's a retro look at present day times at Alameda High School. Laughter and chatter filling the halls is our own song-- it will always play and never get old. In the A-Town Groove where the beat goes on...

Student life

Students spend their free time on a variety of things that keep them busy. Whether it is breaking out a new dance move at the Homecoming dance or taking that long-anticipated vacation during Fall Break, the activities never end. Here is a special look at our A-Town Hornets doing what they do best...

Under The Sun

Last summer, the only thing our Hornets had in mind was FUN! Students couldn't wait to do all of the things that they had planned: swimming at A-town's local pools, or catching a flick at the movies with friends. Most Hornets couldn't wait to get away from the stresses of school, explore the world, and vacation to far off places. For some Hornets, fun was not the only thing on the agenda – summer school and practicing for seasonal sports consumed many hours during the day. As summer came to an end, we tried to squeeze in all of the last minute plans that we did not get to experience into our final summer days. No matter what we did and where we went, we'll have plenty of photos and tons of memories to remind us of what fun we had over the summer of 2002.

Swingin' Style

Fads & Fashions

The fashion at Alameda High varies between many different styles and trends. If you walk through the halls of this school, you will see a variety of designers. The styles differ from casual to formal and punk to prep. Most of the students love to shop for brands such as Old Navy and Sean John. A few of the fads for the 2002-2003 school year are the soft drinks Pepsi Blue and Red Fusion. Many of the students are beginning to bring back converse shoes and peasant shirts with matching bell-bottoms from decades ago. Clothing is not the only type of fashion that represents the students' style; tattoos and piercings continue to be very popular. Students will take the pain of getting a tattoo or a piercing to make a statement. Alameda High students have unique body art on various areas on their bodies. Hairstyles and accessories, such as handbags and backpacks complete the Hornet fashion. These Hornets swing with the style.

Homecoming

Homecoming is one of the most anticipated events of the year. It is a whole fun-filled week, full of competition., starting with the annual assembly, which for the first time was held in the New Gym. As each class grew louder and louder as they cheered for their class representatives, the Leadership class tried to calm them down enough to present this year's homecoming court. Among other things, there were sprit rallies, dress-up days, and the dance. The most anticipated event was the football game at the end of the week. The crowd was glued to the field during halftime, as the homecoming parade rolled on by. The floats that were dressed as board games were dazzling underneath Thompson's lights. The anticipation paid off then the Juniors and Seniors tied for floats.

Music

Musical preferences vary widely and include oldies, jazz, pop, rock, gospel, metal, classical, and many more. B.B. King to Led Zepplin and Charlotte Church to Tool, music is one of Alameda High School students' most popular outlets. Some students spend their free time performing with the school bands or taking outside lessons. Many more write lyrics and spin turntables to share their feelings. Although music is very eclectic, it is also a great equalizer and is often used to bring our community together. And the swell tunes keep goin' here in the A-Town Groove. . .

Weekends

The weekend, a period time from Friday night to Monday morning, and how do most groovy Hornets spend this time? Well, some students hang with friends, others better their community, while yet others earn a living. These activities that make up our weekends away from school may not seem as important as education but what would we do without those two days of freedom?! The ancient Greeks believed in a sound mind and a sound body; we live up to this principle by engaging in all things non-academic and becoming the epitome of well-rounded Hornets.

Fall Break

Fall Break was a new thing to the Alameda High School schedule this year. During the week of October 13th through October 17th, Hornets had the week off. Some people went away and others felt it was the perfect opportunity to catch up on sleep. Many students who have jobs, worked, and those who didn't just relaxed and enjoyed the fact there was no work at all. Unlike Summer Break when students travel far and wide, and Spring Break when students stay up and party, Fall Break was more or less close to home, and a little more serene.

Lizzy Johnson, KiraTakeshita, Evelyn Chang, Athena Paschal, and Alice Gong take a break from all the rollercoasters and shows at Marine World.

Hornets on the Go

Tnoi

Students at Alameda High School have many different means of transportation. Some students skate, walk, ride their bikes, or take the bus. Skating to school, Junior Corey Timko says he wishes he could drive. A majority of the students are driven to school by older siblings or parents. Sophomore Kelly Idle says that she hitches a ride with her mom while Freshman Ricky Albert gets a ride from his older sister, Samantha. However, Many students also drive themselves to school. Junior Kevin Muzikar drives his '91 Mazda MPV to and from school everyday.

Handy Hornets

Jobs & Community Service

The students of Alameda High use up their after school time working and doing community service. The majority of the Hornets who work do it for the money, while others do it for enjoyment. They spend their money on everything from food to clothes to car expenses. Having a job teaches the students to be responsible and hard working. Other students prefer to spend their time doing Community Service not only because its a requirement to graduate, but also because they like to help out. Some Hornets go over their hours while others do enough to get by. Helping out others in need makes them feel stronger. This school year has been a success with all the helpful Hornet hands.

Friends

In school and in life there is one thing that helps people get through hard times, that is a friend. Our friends are there when we fail tests, break up with loved ones, and get Friday detentions. They give us that extra boost we need to get through our days at AHS. Whether they are our best friend or our study buddy, they are there for us through sad times and good times. When you leave AHS you will forget your class schedule, all the teachers you hated, and how many football games the team won, but you will probably never forget those whom you call your friends.

Below:Seniors Salil Chitnis and Robert Ding are friends inside and outside of school. "Robbie's a good friend because when you take him on trips he fits in most overhead compartments,"says

"Friends make my life in high school more fun and exciting!" exclaimed Freshman Kaitlin Doering.

True friend Junior Laura Paget helps Junior Grace McAvoy dye her hair a brilliant turquoise.

Seniors Lori Lee, Janine Wong, and Gloria Lam spend some quality time outside of school at a church camp.

"It's fun going to school with people you already spend time with. Then there are lots of inside jokes to tell in school." Junior Natalie Phillips.

"My brother's a real ladies' man, so there are fewer available girls at school now." said Senior Sam Rogerson about his Freshman brother Arran Rogerson.

Below Right: Senior Justin and Junior Janie Honegger have gone to school together for years, and some of the bickering from home comes to school with them. Justin still says, "She's always stealing my portions."

Kierstyn and Kyle Moore are happy sharing their lives at home and at school together.

Twins Jilli and Steffi Zarifis enjoy going to the same school, but admit that sometimes they spend a little too much time together.

There is one thing that outweighs the importance of friends, and as the saying goes, 'blood is thicker than water.' Family is the most vital element in one's life. Your family has been there since the day you were born and will be there, in mind and spirit, until the day you die. Some of us have siblings at AHS, and some of us don't, but having a sibling in another part of your life can have varied effects. Although your brother or sister may be two years younger than you and annoying, they are still your family, and they will provide you with support and comfort in areas where others will fail to. Your siblings and family were there when you were in diapers, and they are going to be here with you through your days at AHS.

Hornets always anticipate the semi-annual food fair. Student clubs sell delectable foods from different cultures during an extended lunchtime and all of this is accented by performances from the school jazz band. This year we even had the debut of DDR [Dance Dance Revolution] Club. They set up DDR pads in the courtyard so students didn't have to worry about eating too much as they could dance it all away. There was a great turn out of over twenty clubs selling foods ranging from lumpias to bubble tea.

Senior year has finally come and gone, and the reality of being independent and on our own is setting in. This is a time to look back on the past four years and remember all the memorable moments we've shared. We've all gone through the good and the bad, and experienced high school in its full force. It is now time to say goodbye, and move on to bigger and better things. We wish everyone success and happiness, and look forward to meeting again in ten years.

Senior Banquet

Twilight by the Bay

November 23rd, 2002

Every year there comes a time when for just one night, seniors seem to put aside their differences and gather together to celebrate their last year at Alameda High. This year, senior banquet was a night that no one will forget. We set out on the bay, sharing memories of our past years together, and having the times of our life.

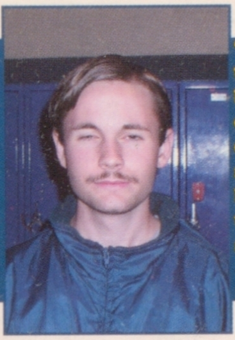
"It was the first time it was just our class & there was the realization that we weren't going to be together for much longer."
-Miriam Adrianowicz

"Seventy five dollars for chicken on a boat? I'm okay..."
-Verdadero Larraccas (on why he didn't go to Banquet)



"It was fun; there was a buffet & a dance & I was dancing all night. It bothered me that it ended so soon."
-David Hickman

"It took much time & energy to prepare; more than the senior class expected, but in the end, we believed it was a success."

Buzz Recordings Presents...

The Academic Lounge

Shelley Truong and Katrina Lin hit the books durring class time.

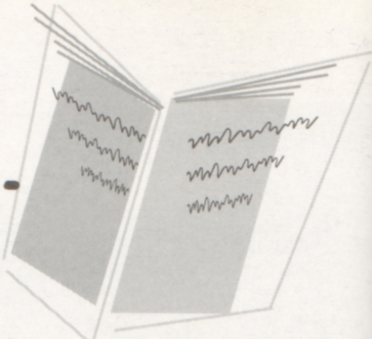
Senior Dora Vandekamp listens intenly to the teachers instructions.

Academics Section

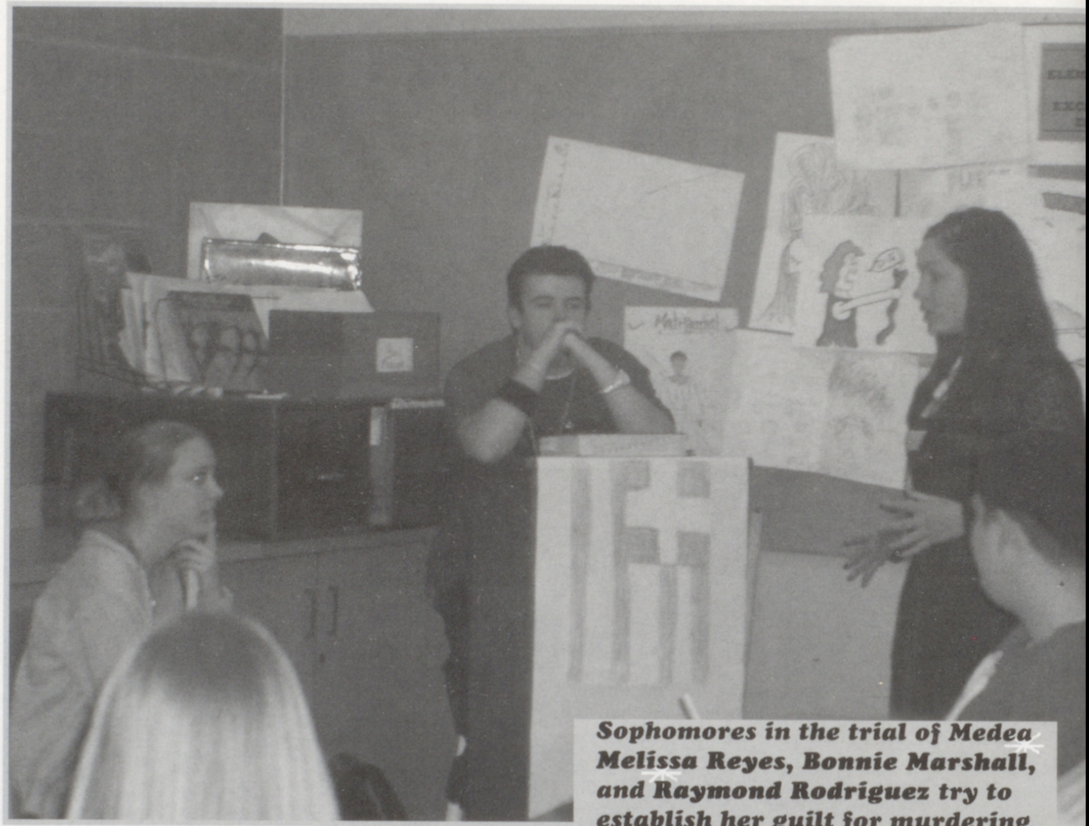
The one thing that keeps us in school is our academic classes. Whether it is dancing your way to Art class or jiving to History, students fill the classes that keep the beat spinning in the A- Town Groove...

Writing With a Beat...

English



Upon entrance to high school English, students read and analyze the hero's journey. This topic leads to the fight against prejudice and persecution. The theme soon dissolves to form the American Dream, decked in all of its glorius freedom, and focuses to leave a final message of the individual versus the system, showing that one person truly can make a difference.



Sophomores in the trial of Medea Melissa Reyes, Bonnie Marshall, and Raymond Rodriguez try to establish her guilt for murdering her children.

Jamie Tench, Junior, leans back comfortably as his teacher lectures about The Catcher in the Rye.

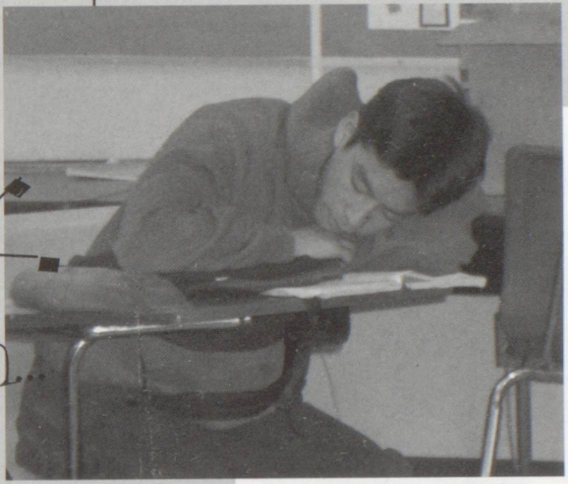
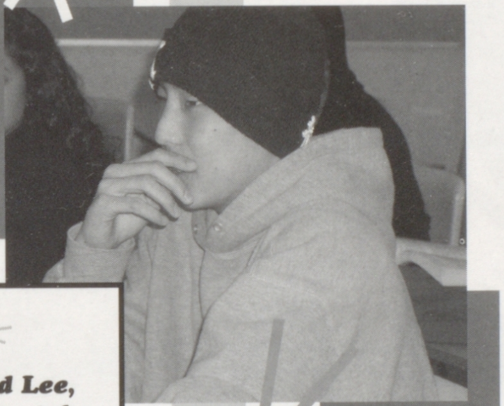
Seniors Raymond Leung, Bowen Sze, Sokny Sek, and Charles Wong cut their handmade dough to make perfect sugar cookies in the quest to conquer cooking vocabulary and American measurements.

Sophomores Yu-Ree Cho and Alison Lin both scribble furiously to finish their work on The Diary of Anne Frank.

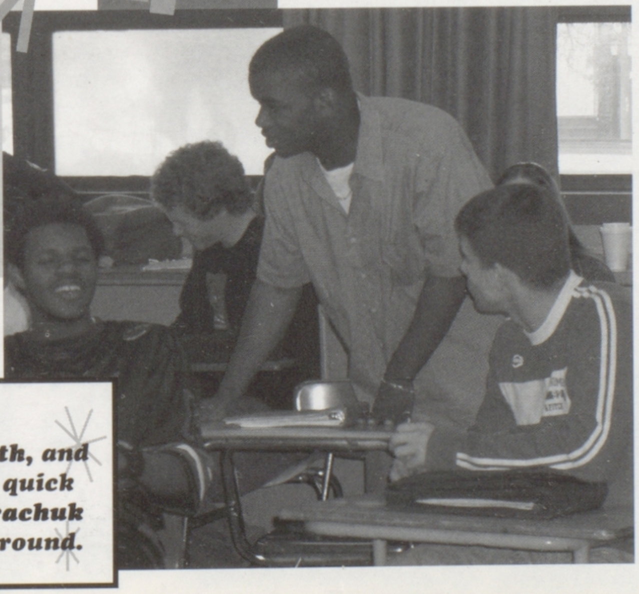
Arthur Lau , Senior, tries to concentrate on the focused work of literature on a drowsy afternoon.



Reading Again...



David Lee, Senior, takes the classic thinker's pose as Ms. Norstrand reads aloud.



Juniors Kevin Nious, Alexander Bridgeforth, and Bobby Rather have a quick laugh as Peter Kindrachuk chuckles in the background.

What would you say about the amount and the type of homework that is given daily?

'I usually give homework every night, but it should average to only about thirty minutes a day.'

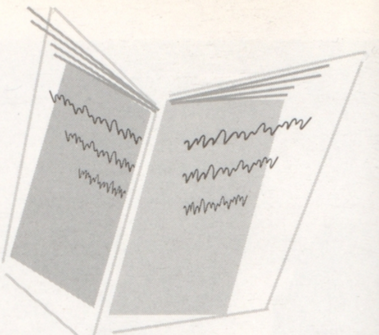
Ms. Rudd,
English

'I spend an hour doing Ms. Rudd's homework each night. The work isn't that hard, but it's like having two English classes.'

Nikolas Zelinski,
Freshman

Drum Roll Please...

Fine Arts



Senior Chris Gilling concentrates on the music sheet with the rest of the clarinet section.

All the world's a stage and all the men and women merely players: they have their exits and their entrances; and one man in his time plays many parts.'

Shakespeare

From dance to art and drama to music, all of the fine arts play an important role at Alameda High.

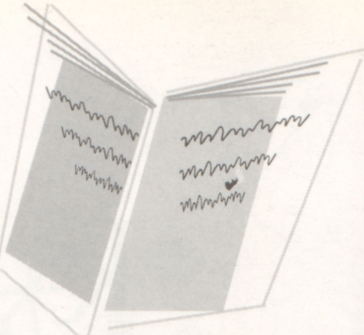
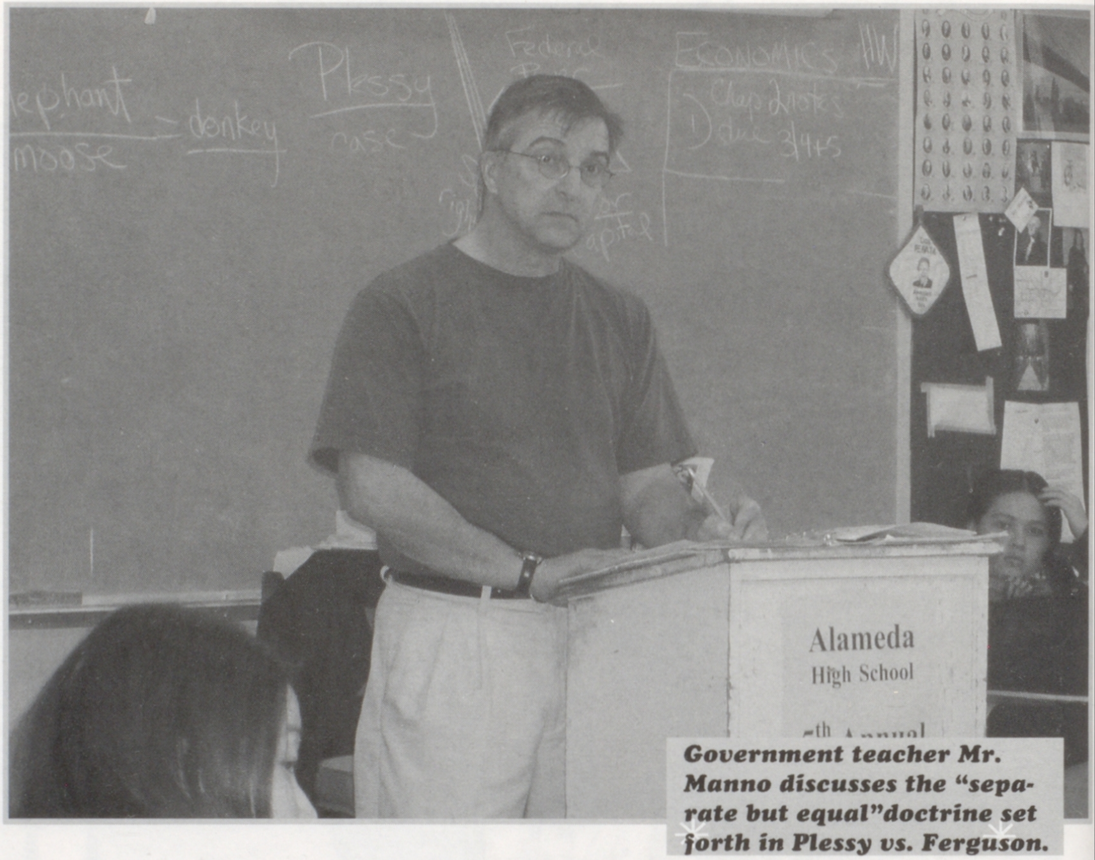
Rhythms of Time...



Social Science

Hanging in the balance of time, Hornets try to relive the past in a valiant effort to prevent history from repeating itself. Their teachers continue to fill the present with news of the past. Understanding the past is necessary for Hornet students to create success in the future.



Government teacher Mr. Manno discusses the "separate but equal"doctrine set forth in Plessy vs. Ferguson.

VV Junior, Michael Gillman listens intently to his teacher giving a lecture to the class.

Senior, Carlos Vadillo says he likes the 1930's "Because they proved to be turbulent times because of regime change in Europe and the clash of political ideology in the world."...*

...while his fellow senior, Corinne Roberts says she has to agree with Carlos because "The 1930's were fascinating and a ton of fun to learn about. Long live the FDR!"

What period in history would you most like to live in?

'I like 2003 becausethere has never been so much change in the world at one time.'

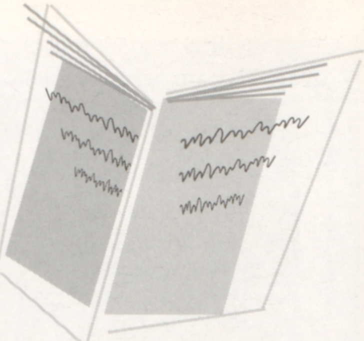
Mr. Siltanen, Government

'It's all about the roaring 20s. Prohibition, speakeases, flappers, and kickin it with Mr. Gatsby.'

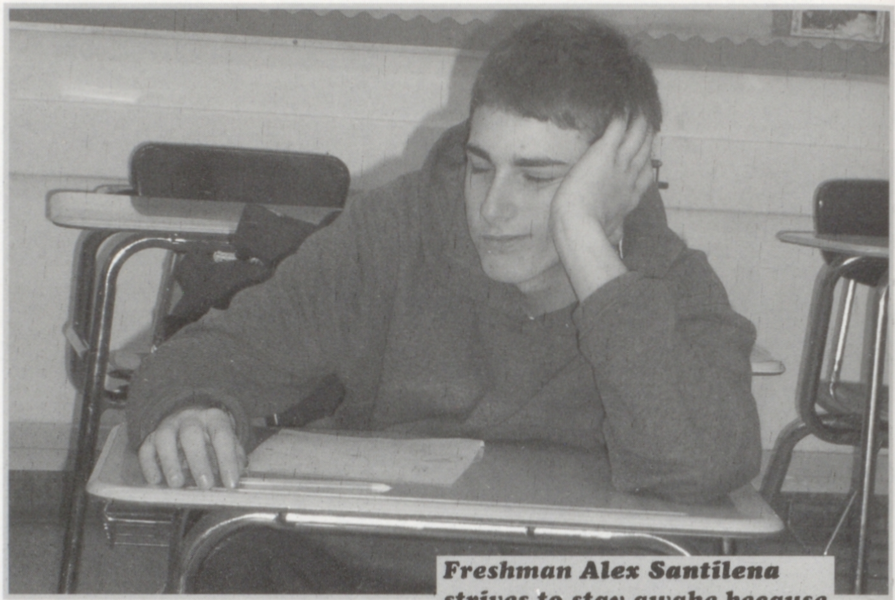
Joey Silver, Senior

¡Ay Caramba!

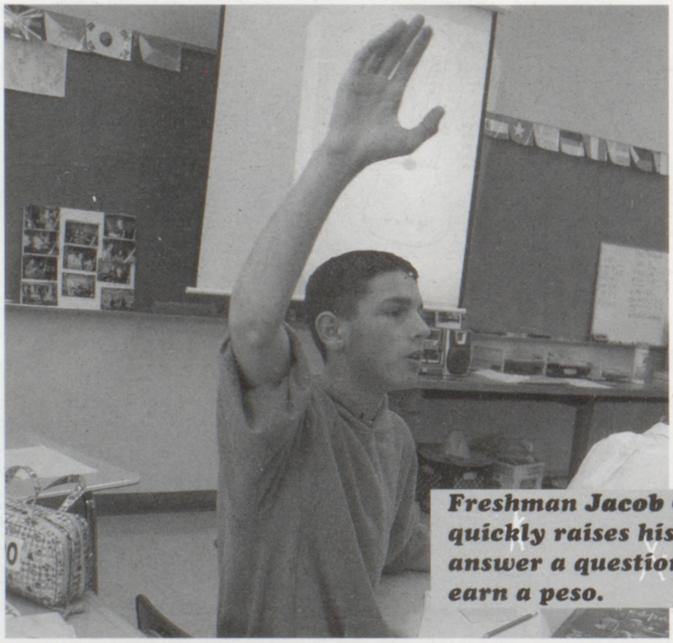
Spanish



Preparing themselves for life in the multi cultural fast lane, most of the students at Alameda acquired the flare for Spanish. For those students who wanted more than just an acquaintance with the Spanish language that wasn't limited to 'burrito,' 'muchacha,' and 'hola,' the teachers were willing to guide their students down the road to success.

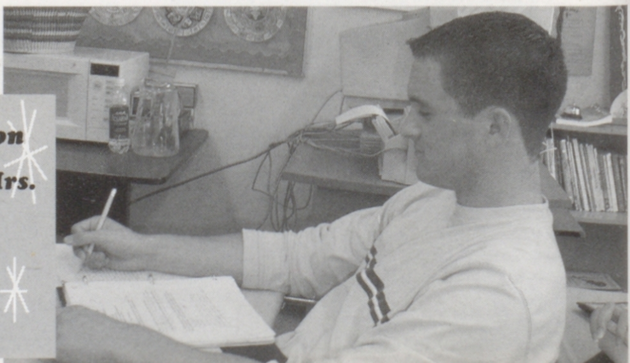


Freshman Alex Santilena strives to stay awake because of his lack of sleep the night before.



Freshman Jacob Groth quickly raises his hand to answer a question so he can earn a peso.

Instead of teaching her students their fruits and vegetables from the book, with her creative thinking, Sra. Rose teaches her class with real vegetables and fruits.



Junior Bill Richason takes notes while Mrs. Rose teaches new verbs to her fourth period class.

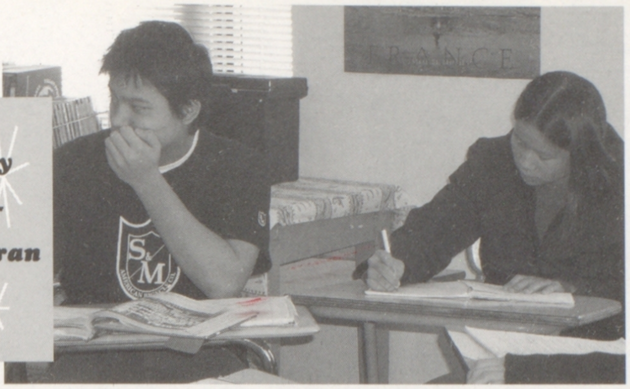
What is the easiest part of Spanish?

'The easiest part of Spanish is that it is an easy language to pronounce.'
-Mrs. Yeo

Spanish is easy because a lot of words from English relate to Spanish [words].'
- Mona Lisa Macalino, Freshman

Zut! Zut! Zut!

French



While Sophomore Brandi Wong silently completes the assignment, Junior Nick Tran takes a minute en pensant.

What's best about the French culture?

'[What I like most about the French culture is] the food. Easily the food.' -Madame LaBarre

'The artwork and architecture of France is the most essential part of the culture.' -Albert Chun, Junior Working diligently on his own, it seems like Sophomore Ramsey Moyer knows his French.

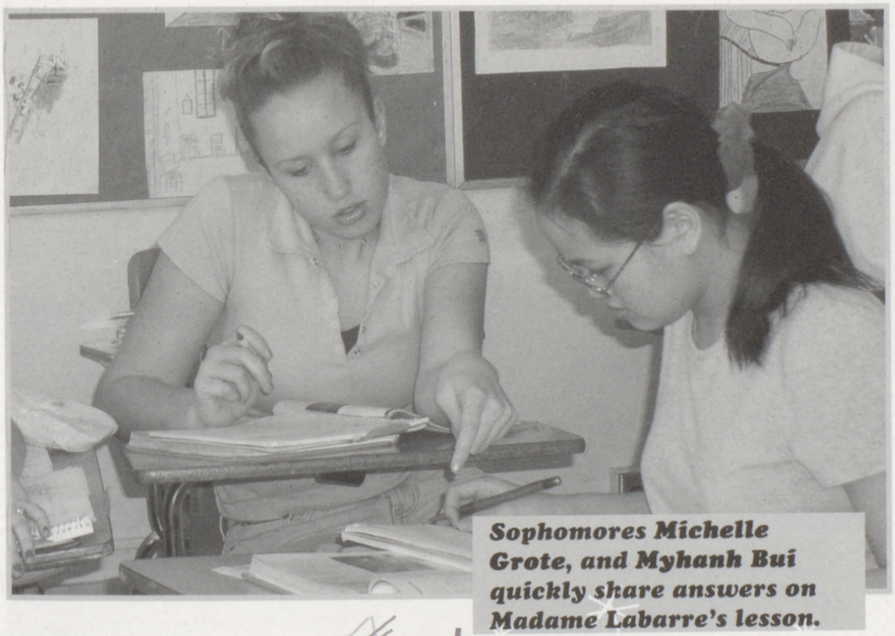
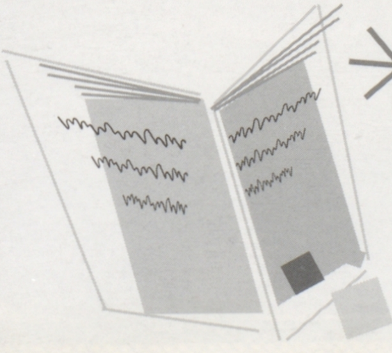
Sophomore Jamie Danehy-Oaks calls to mind the French word for camera.



Sophomores Michelle Grote, and Myhanh Bui quickly share answers on Madame Labarre's lesson.

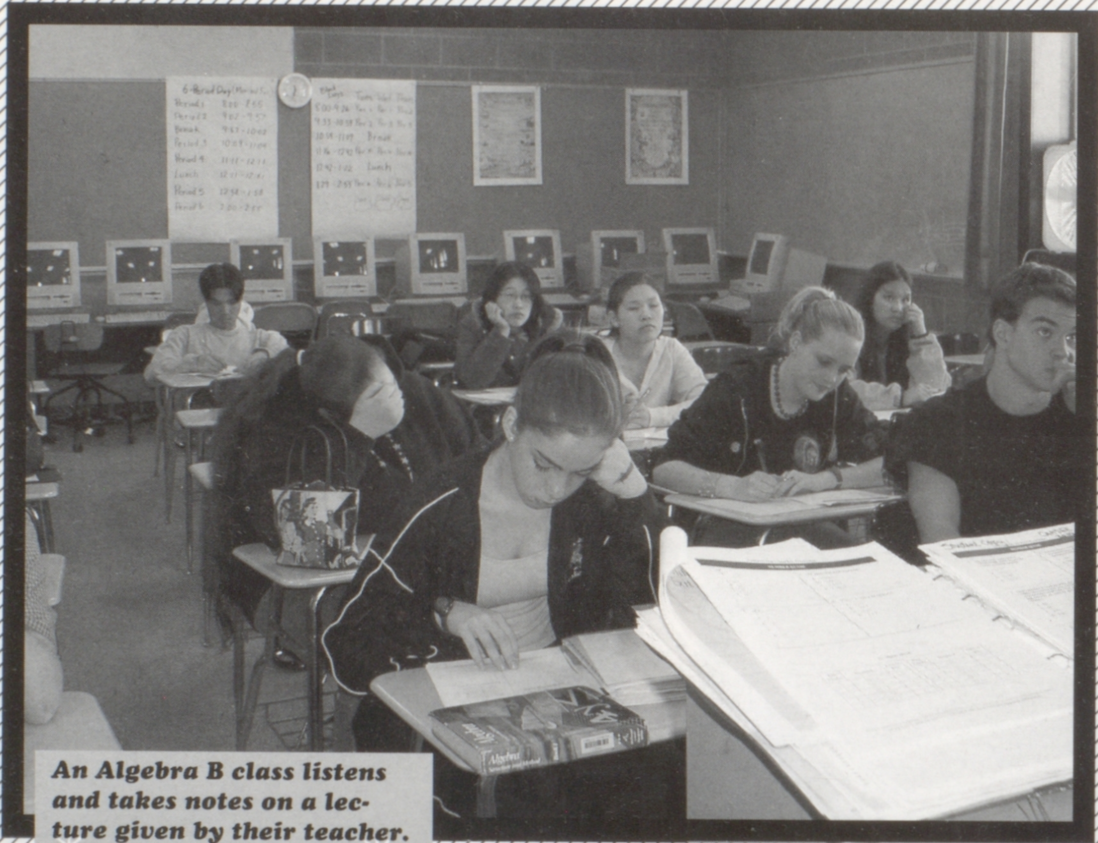
Here at Alameda, students were drilled and worked into learning the essentials of French. With fewer than 250 students, they went through the halls of school flaunting their French. With the leadership of Madame LaBarre and Madame Gutleben, students' learning experiences were not only beneficial but also fun.



Geometric Groove....

Math

Out of the many class at Alameda High, ma is one of the most important subjects, ranging from Pre-Algebra and Geometry all the way to AP Calculus and Stats. Even though students may think their math clas is hard and boring, teachers find creative ways to make it fun and easy. The truth is we deal with math everyday.



An Algebra B class listens and takes notes on a lecture given by their teacher.

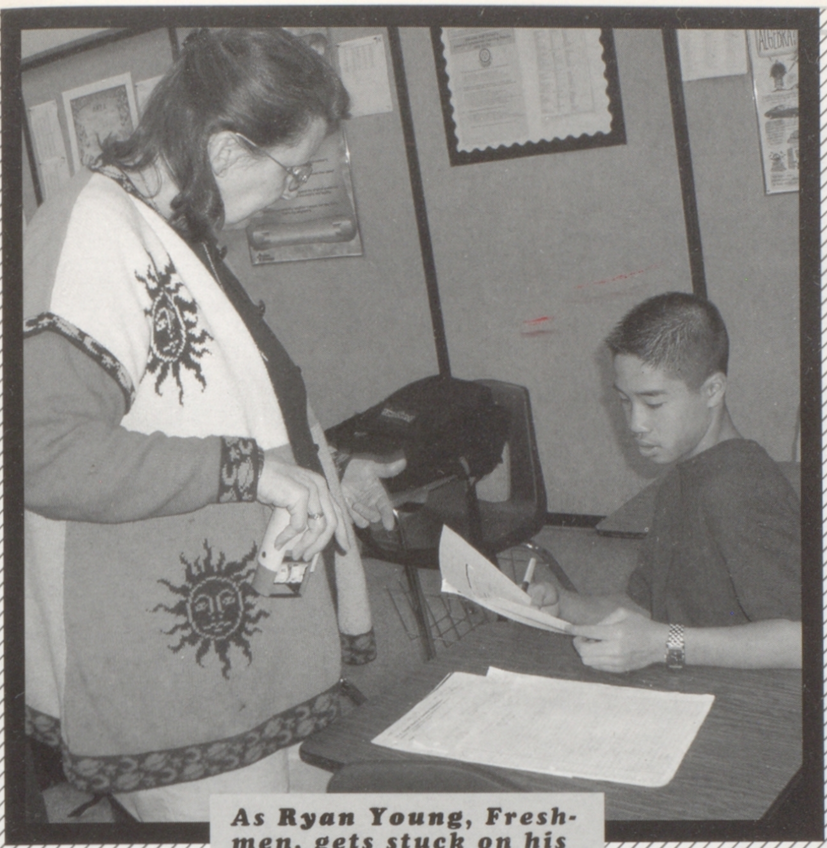
Freshman,Nidal Hassen copies down his warm up before he begins his grueling math studies.



As Ryan Young, Freshmen, gets stuck on his equations Ms. Harrington comes to the rescue to slove his problems.

Gregory Stewart

Jennifer Yeung

Hard working Hornets work busily to finish their math problems.

What is the most enjoyable part of math class?

"I like math because I can teach my kids how to count their number of referrals by using the finer points of number theory through abstract algebraic interpretation."

Mr. Castro,
Algebra A & B

"It is easy for me and I can remember numbers and it also helps me count how much money have in my pocket even though it's zero."

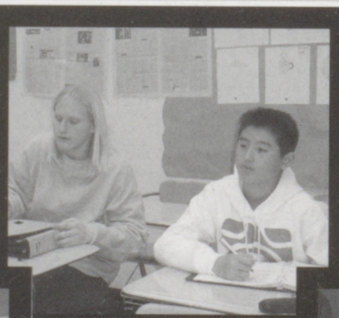
Media Academy

The Media Academy is a specialized secondary program that helps kids acknowledge their true potential, and find themselves. They have teachers who are willing to help any students with any kind of problem that they might have during their time in high school. Being in the Media Academy gives you certain privilages like the use of technology. You also become part of a family-like environment.

Seniors, Lucia Galindo and Vera Fescura are hugging each other as they explain that their favorite thing about the Media Academy is "the bagels."

v Junior, Robert Hoover starts to work on his next U.S. History PowerPoint.

v Kelly Copeland, and Sandra Fox check their English paper for mistakes.



v Roberto Rodriguez, looks at the grade he got on his essay, before starting a new assignment.

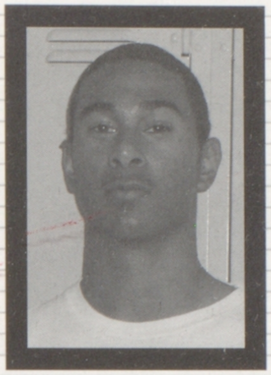
"You get to chill in the lab, and do 'projects'on PowerPoint."

-John Tran



"The Media Academy is fun and Ms.Turpin is a great teacher."

-Alem Gebreyesus

"The Media Academy is a very fun and interesting class to be a part of."

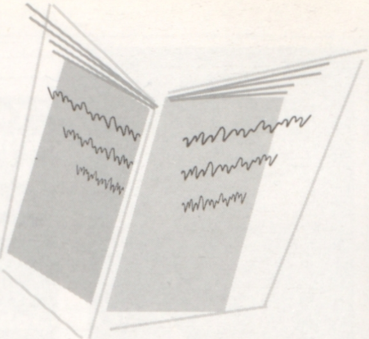
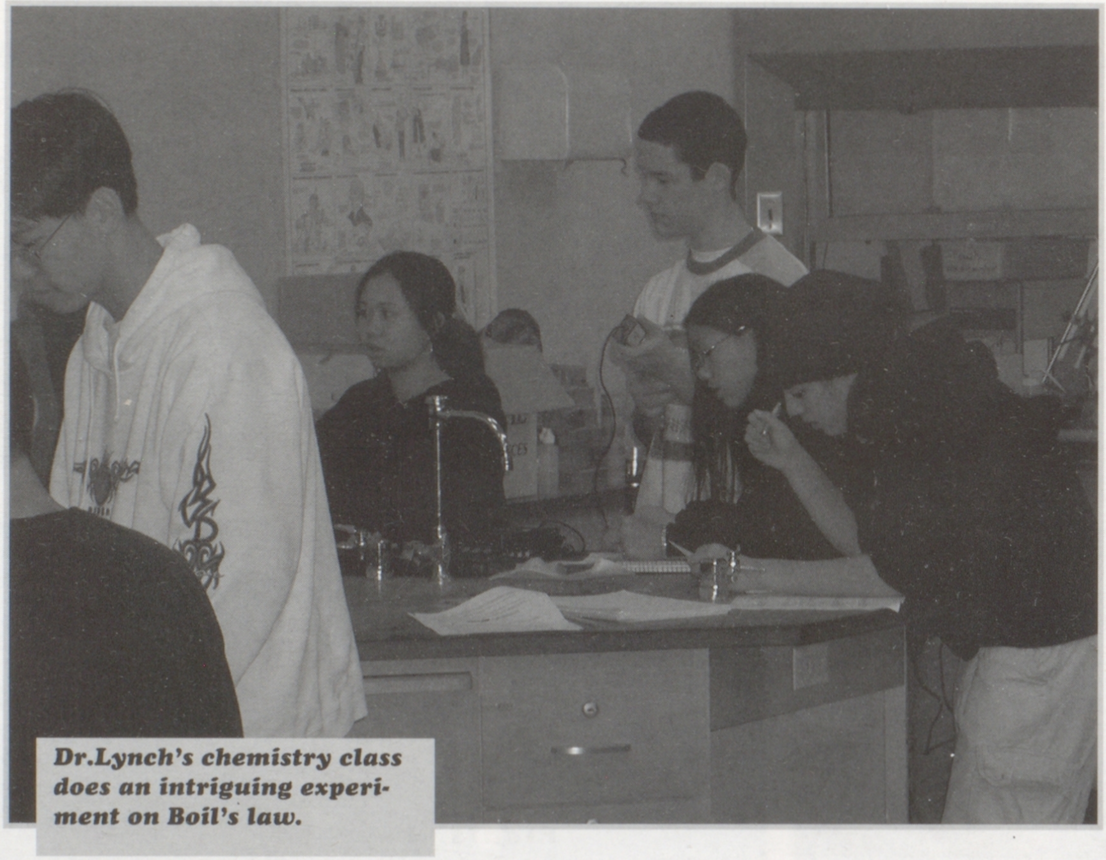
Mad Scientists



Science



Dr.Lynch's chemistry class does an intriguing experiment on Boil's law.

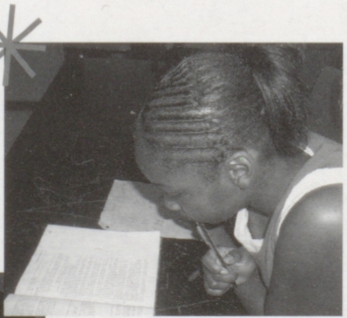
Alameda High School's science department offers a world of learning and experience. From reading the text to dissecting that day's lesson, AHS students walk away with more knowledge and a new ability to look at the the world.

Freshman Devaja Shafer listens attentively as a fellow student presents EXP biology.

In physics Jay Rodden and Christian Omphroy look anxiously for more alligator clips.

Grace Chang and Tiffany Chen work diligently as they finish up their pedigree charts.

Gregory Stewart eagerly works to complete an in-class assignment.



Suzanne Smith studies her biology concept review ahead of time to be prepared for her chapter exam.

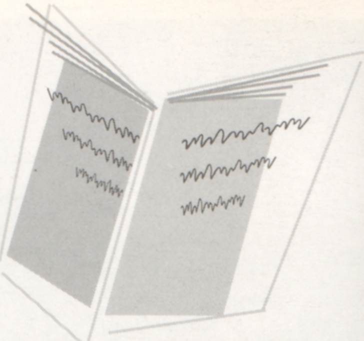
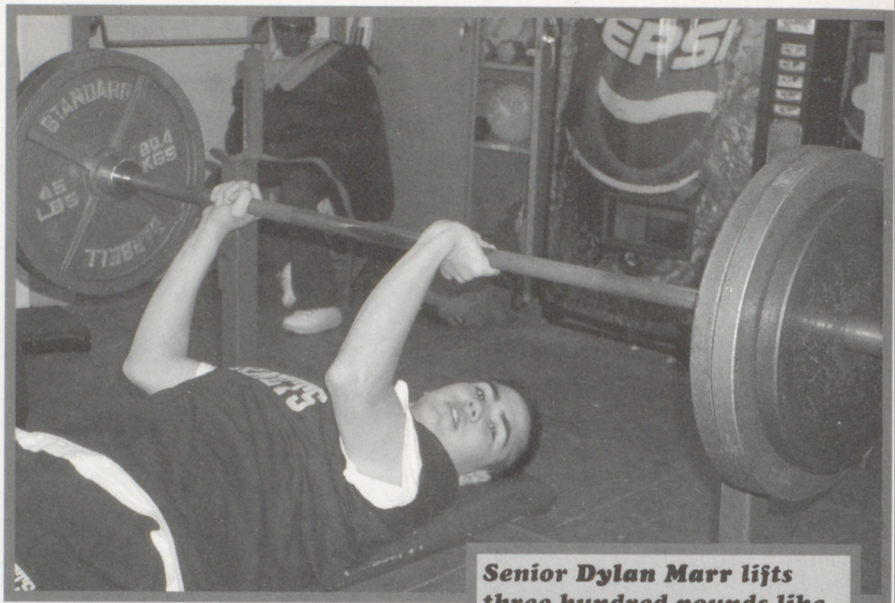
Tough Enough

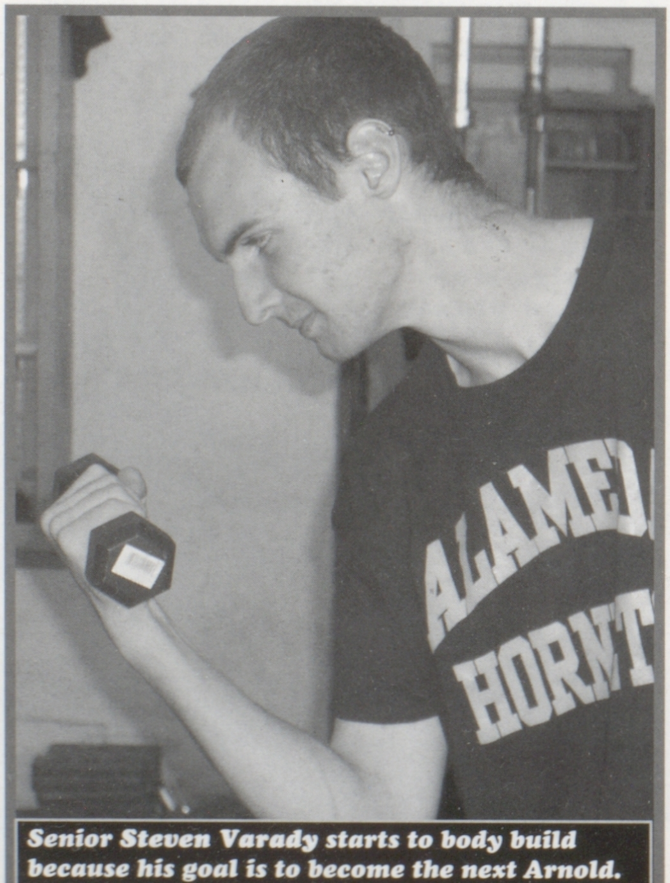
P.E.



The Hornet's physical education comprises alot of different activities. This year the classes have done swimming, weight training, handball, and many other sports. Alameda High School provides a great physical education program for the students.



Senior Dylan Marr lifts three hundred pounds like it's nothing.



Senior Steven Varady starts to body build because his goal is to become the next Arnold.

"What do you think about physical education?"

"I think physical education is important because childhood obesity and teenage diabetes is rising"

-Mr. Rodd

"P.E. is valuable to all students because it gives kids who would never exercise a chance to."

-Taryn Aguiar, 9

Yearbook

Yearbook isn't just a class; it's more like a job. In yearbook, we test the limits, try new things, and create a yearbook that makes the AHS Hornets happy. Our goal is to have our yearbook remembered. 5 years from now, 50 years from now, maybe even 500! The year has come to a screeching halt, and we hope all of our hard work has paid off.

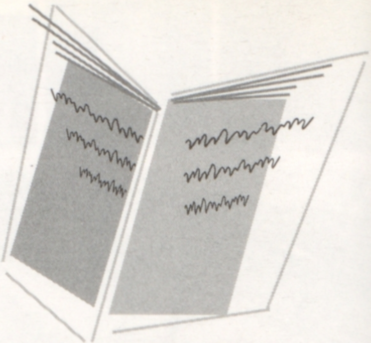
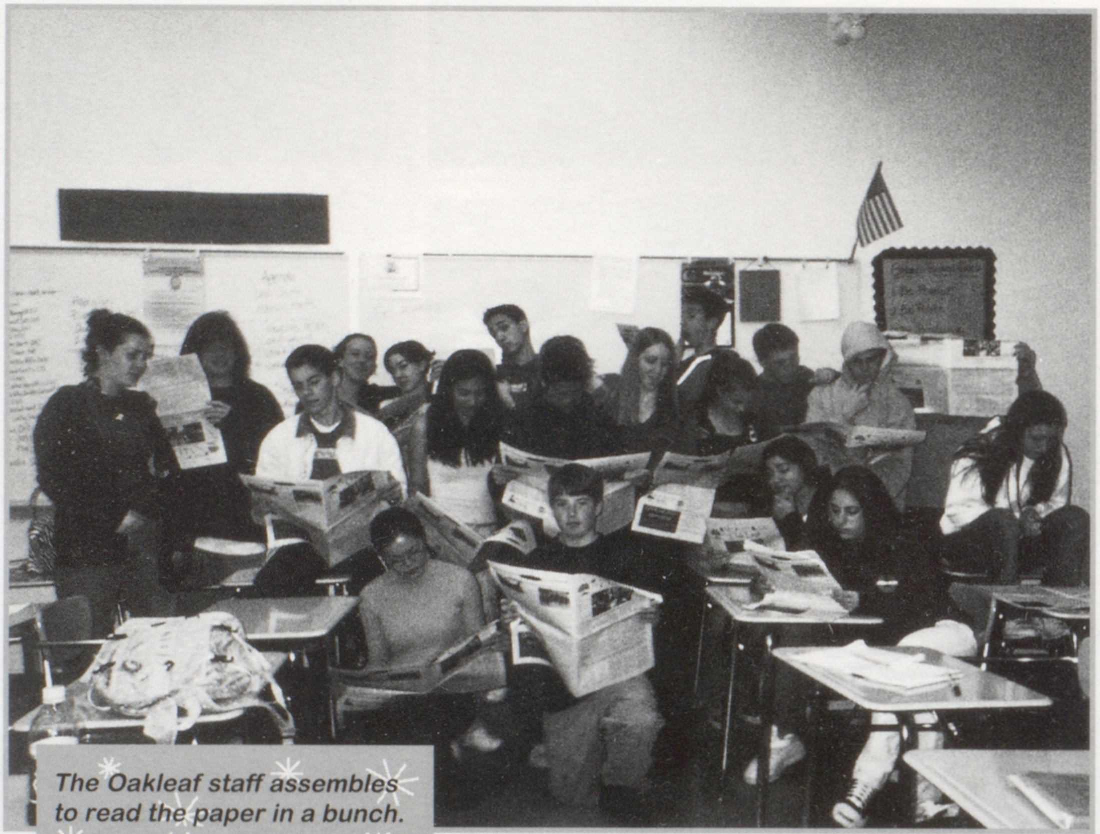
The Oakleaf...

Journalism





The Oakleaf staff assembles to read the paper in a bunch.

Ever wonder what's up in local and campus news? Check out the Oakleaf newspaper of Alameda High. Every month the journalism class hunts down hot topics to fill the next issue. The students work hard hammering out ideas, meeting deadlines and keeping the rest of the student body entertained. The Oakleaf is an important facet of school life.

Senior Carlos Vadillo intensely studies the Chronicle's style.

"The best part of Journalism is that you can be hated, loved, or ignored for what you did and not what you are."
-Senior , Erin McAvoy

"One thing most students don't realize is just how much time and effort the staff puts in every month."
-Senior, Linda Leung

Junior Kyle Moore wanders off to plan out what his next story is going to be about.

Samantha Chelouche & Jessica Hyde

Freshman, Kevin Lai thoughtfully counts how many papers he has to deliver in order to get the news out.

Morgan Gehrett and Rachel Goldstein contemplate new ideas for their stories.

What is the most interesting topic to write an article on?

'I like when my students comment on current world events because I like to see their opinions.'

Ms. Kelly Gregor,
Journalism and English

'I like to write about interesting people at our school.'

What is the best part of Alameda High School? The many smiling faces that make up the school community. You're never too far from a good friend here... That's just the good old tunes from the A-Town Groove!

Faculty and Staff

We have had an extraordinary year with the amazing faculty that has provided us with the motivation we need to succeed. Their unwavering support and continued guidance have helped us mature into who we are today. With their expertise and advice, they have also helped us plan our route to a successful future. It is because of this excellence that one of our teachers, Robert Siltanen, was chosen to be the Teacher of the Year for Alameda County. With all that they have done for us, it is not surprising that the memories of Alameda High will stay with us and remain in our hearts for a long time to come.

Functional Living Skills

The students in Room 401 work on developing skills which will help them become independent adults after graduating from the high school. You will see them all over the campus and around town. They sell snacks at break time and work in local businesses. In their spare time, you can find them going out to eat and checking out fun events all over the school and the Bay Area.

Junior Mugs

'One more year to go' charges through the minds of Juniors everyday. Juniors start to realize how precious time is because of the long study hours that they face at night. Day by day they overcome challenges and obstacles, teaching them there is no wealth but life. Being upperclassmen means shaping the future and finally taking another step towards graduation. Juniors go through many changes like getting ready to go to college and experiencing S.A.T's. These new experiences build character and stamina in the hearts of Juniors. The trials they have tolerated will benefit them for the many years to come. With pride and confidence Juniors start the day and with spirit and energy they conquer the day. The hope of their future grows deeply in their hearts, enabling them to face the fact that there is one more year to go.

Sophomore Mugs

With the crazy memories of Freshman year fading in their minds, the class of '05 was eager to make new ones. Sophomore year is a time where some decision making and thinking is required. With one year of experience behind the class of '05, and two more years to go, its no wonder Sophomore means 'Wise Fool.' Emily Heilman sums up what most Sophomores':

,.` goal is this year, 'not to fail.' Whenever the word 'Sophomore' is mentioned around Mr. Castro, he turns around and says, 'Hey, I love those folks!'

Freshmen Mugs

Yet again another school year has come and gone, and as it happens we watch the latest group of those freshmen, as 'fresh' as ever. Vibrant and energetic with the excitement of a new experience, freshmen enjoy their first year of high school, giving its image a newer and 'fresher' look. They are spoken of with amusing scorn by the Seniors, Juniors, and Sophomores. 'They are short, and block the hallways with their slow walking' complains Jason Choi, Sophomore. But still, when these supposedly mindless large crowds, aka Freshmen, speak, they have other thoughts in mind. 'It feels like Im a stranger because all the older people are adjusted to this school but freshmen arent.' says Phebe Yip. On the other hand, Nikolas Zelinski says, 'Freshman year is like a dream, when you wake up you can start a new day.' But as always, the freshmen will continue through their high school years, and live life and its every moment to the fullest, paving a way for themselves, making their own '06 legacy.

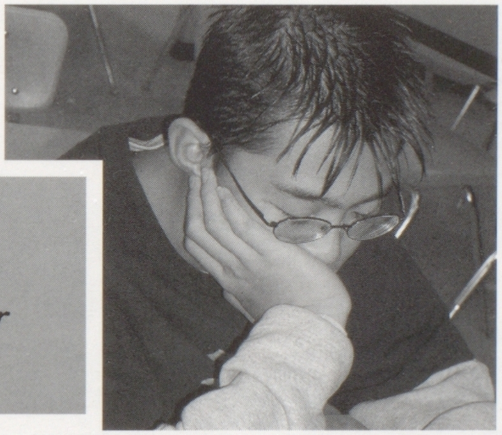
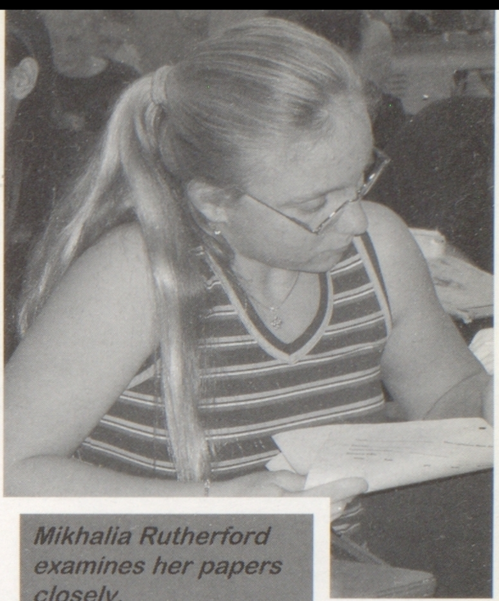
Don't take your anger out on the vending machines when your drink doesn't come out... 13 people are killed each year by vending machines falling on them. Allison Day demonstrates exactly what NOT to do.

The average person laughs 15 times a day, so by the end of the year each of us would have laughed 2,700 times. But... being Freshmen, let's just say we could laugh all day at just about nothing, as we can see from Lisa Wilson.



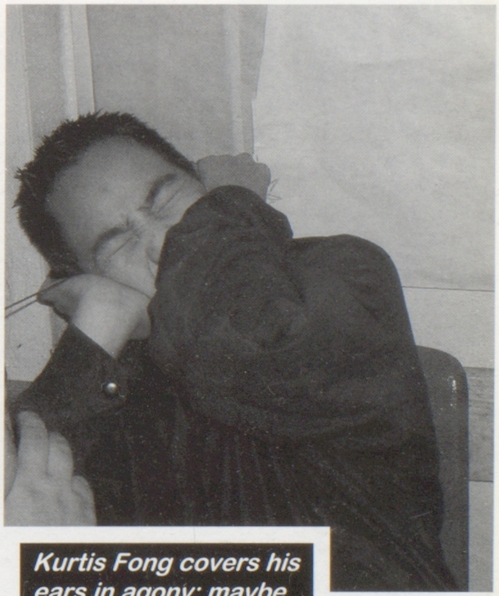
The average person has around 1,460 dreams a year. So by the end of senior year, we Freshmenwill have dreamed 5,840 times. This dream is one more for Daniel Chow.

The average person marries at age 25. So if this year's Freshmen marry at that average age, they'll marry in either 2012 or 2013. Olivia Knox and Nicholas Rhodes may be our future candidates for this event, eh?



Mikhalia Rutherford examines her papers closely.

Lela Chu gives us a bright smile.



Kurtis Fong covers his ears in agony; maybe someone turned up his music a little too loud...

Mr. Nakamura, like dozens of other Hornet teachers, sponsors clubs like Leo's and Biofactor.

Junior Bill Richason meets with Conflict Mediation a few times a month.

As The Beat Goes On....

Clubs ~ places of competition for some and havens of safety and security for others, it's topics range from heritage to charity and community service. Clubs bring together people that come from many walks of life and share a common goal. Alameda High is home to a record thirty-eight different clubs that almost one thousand Hornets particiapte in.

The end of all education should surely be service to others. ~ Cesar E. Chavez ~

A Brother is more than family, he's a special friend for life....

Kind words can be short and easy to speak,
but their echoes are truly endless. ~ Mother Teresa ~

Dear Ashley,
This extra page in the yearbook is our better-than-a-greeting-card way of saying congratulations to a very loving & delightful daughter! For an ordinary teen who loves her music and her cat, you've done some extraordinary things. You have accomplished so much academically, in fashion modeling, in rock climbing, conversing "en français" in France, earning your car, contributing to Home Project, and (wow) accepting invites to audition for 20th Century Fox + MTV. All of our best wishes go with you as you head off to university this fall... Love - Mom, Dad & Eric

I would rather be ashes than dust!
I would rather that my spark should burn out in a brilliant blaze than it should be stifled by dryrot.
I would rather be a superb meteor, every atom of me in magnificent glow, than a sleepy and permanent planet.
The proper function of man is to live, not to exist.
I shall not waste my days in trying to prolong them.
I shall use my time
……………………………~ Jack London ~

To the most wonderful senior class I've ever had -- thank you for a lovely, fun year! I have so enjoyed teaching you and loved the enthusiasm you brought to learning -- you made teaching easy. As you go out into life, remember our year together and know that you've proved yourselves to be outstanding people.

YEAR IN REVIEW

This year many things have occured. From beginning the war against Iraq to budget cuts in California. From Nora Jones winning five awards at the Grammies to former president Jimmy Carter receiving the Nobel Peace Prize.

Sadly, Mr. Sean McPhetridge will be leaving us to go to Harvard next year. We will remember him for his hard work and dedication to the students. "Beep-Beep, Kick rocks do what you gotta do!"

Adrian Brody was the youngest person to win Best Actor in the 75-year history of the Academy Awards. As he accepted his award he showed his happiness by kissing fellow Academy winner Halle Berry.

"It was a great honor to win 'Teacher of the Year', but I see it more as a recognition of all the teachers at this school. It's a very humbling experience."

-Mr. Robert Siltanen

WAR
, bombs hit Baghdad – U.S. aims at Iraqi leaders

Our war against Iraq, which began in March '03, terrified the nation. Many Americans have mixed feelings about the war, because of the complexity of the situation. Some feel stopping a ruthless dictator is paramount, while others hold pacifism as the highest value.

As noted in the New York Times, the teachers rallied together to protest the pink slips the School Board of Alameda gave to 100% of the teachers early in March '03.

What a terrific Yearbook year this has been! First of all, we were lucky enough to have an unusually gifted Editor-in-Chief: Mia Croft wields magic when she does graphic design - this amazing yearbook with all its retro chic was her brainchild. Her hard work and inspiration made my job a snap! Mia, many, many thanks. The rest of the Yearbook staff was replete with talented, industrious students who put their good ideas and creativity to work on page design, page ideas, marketing and the thousands of other things staffers do to put together a book for the students and community of AHS. And they were a heck of a lot of fun! Thanks to every single one of you.

At last my final words... This has been such a long process to make this book. I really put so much of my time and effort especially the lonely days at yearbook camp. Even through all the hard work and criticism, I put my heart and soul into this book. For Ms. Klinger who was the best yearbook teacher an editor can ask for because the reason the book was great is because of her. To my fellow members of the BSC, yearbook without you guys would not be the same. To Sophia, take nice and deep breathe and relax, next year will turn out fine. To Hannah, the amazingly organized person that you are, thank you for all your work. To my fellow editors who did an awesome job: Ryan, Jessica, and Mary Lou, THANK YOU! Last but not least, the yearbook staf: take pride in this book because it is your hard work! Thank You everyone! Except for the crazy computers that seemed to be evil.

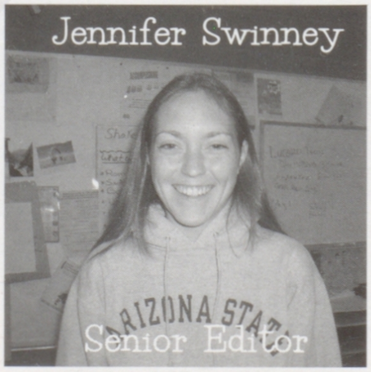
Hey Alameda!
You better like this yearbook because a whole lot of people worked pretty hard putting it all together for you! First off, I want to thank Jenn so much for working with me because I honestly don't know what I would have done without her help! Next, I want tell everybody that Mia is the best person for doing everything she did this year. I also want to wish all the other seniors, Ryan, Jessica, Heather, Steve, Randy, Aria, Candice, Erika, Samantha and Marylou the best of luck next year doing what they decide to do. And goodluck to Sophia on doing next year's yearbook! Thanks everybody I had a great year!
-Kristina

I hope that everyone in the school enjoys the yearbook this year. We worked extremely hard and spent many, many long days making it the best we could. Doing the Senior section this year was a lot more work than I expected. Kristina, our long hours afterschool finally paid off. Thank goodness it's all over....! Good luck to Sophia next year, running the yearbook!! I am sure you will do great!! Mia, your ideas for the yearbook this year were amazing! You made this yearbook completely different and new from anything we've done before! Goodbye to all my little yearbook pals! =)



At last the book is complete! This book required a lot of hard work, time and effort. I cannot wait until everyone can see how wonderful it looks. I would like to thank Ms. Klinger who went above her call of duty to make our yearbook what it is today. To my friend and fellow yearbook editor, Hannah, thank you for always being there. To Mia, thanks for being a great editor. To all the staff and editors, you guys did a great job and I cannot wait until next year!
